ARMED FORCES DAY

27 JUNE

Honouring Britain's Armed Forces
Past, Present and Future

Throughout the day, displays and activities will take place on land, water and in the air as some of the very best assets of the Armed Forces swing into action. Specific display areas will include those for the aviation buffs at Anchor Wharf where the RAF will take centre stage, a British Army Expo, the Sea Cadet Corps Village, Soldiers Through-the-Ages tableaux and an exciting programme of activities on and over the river. The event will very firmly place the entire Armed Forces family of veterans, current personnel and cadets at the centre of an outstanding occasion.

The military displays will be joined by those of the RNLI, Kent Fire and Rescue, BAE Systems, HM Coastguard, Bactec International, military vehicle preservation groups, and many more in an ever increasing list of participants.

In the heart of The Historic Dockyard, Museum Square will become the "Veterans' Rendezvous" where music, food and drink, promotions, charity information stands and entertainment will create a venue specially for veterans.

In the primary Armed Forces areas, have-a-go adventure and fun will be the order of the day as young and old alike are invited to try their hands at a whole host of activities including 'drive a digger', mine-detecting, an inflatable assault course, a shooting range and a climbing wall.

Back by popular demand to entertain the veterans will be the little blond bombshell, Forces Sweetheart KAS and the 'Swinging Sweethearts' singing duo.

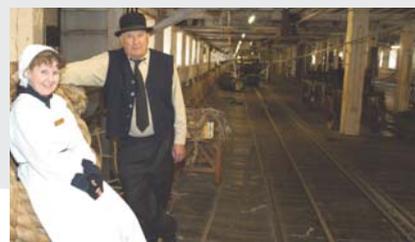

Why The Historic Dockyard Chatham?

The Historic Dockyard Chatham is set in the heart of an area that is immensely rich in Military and Defence history that goes back over four hundred years. Over the years this strong relationship with the UK Armed Forces has led to the Medway Towns and the Armed Forces communities becoming almost one and the same.

Tens of thousands of Service men and women have served, passed through, or retired here, or as civilians have worked for the Royal Navy in the Royal Dockyard and other naval establishments on the Medway. The result is that in Medway and Kent there is a very large population of Armed Forces and Dockyard veterans and there is a large proportion of the national population who served in one way or another in Medway and Kent. Today, The Historic Dockyard continues to be seen as a major focus of attention for veterans, Service personnel and indeed anyone with an interest in the UK Armed Forces.

There could not be a more appropriate year for The Historic Dockyard Chatham, Medway and Kent to host this national event. 2009 is the 25th Anniversary of the Charitable Trust set up to manage the southern 80 acres of the former Naval Base, when the Royal Navy left Chatham in 1984. Much exemplary regeneration work has been done in renovating buildings and bringing them back into use to develop one of Kent's leading attractions and the mixed use community that is The Historic Dockyard today.

Beating Retreat and Ceremonial Sunset

A separately ticketed fundraising event in aid of Chatham Historic Dockyard Trust, Help for Heroes and SSAFA.

Armed Forces Day at The Historic Dockyard Chatham will be brought to a close in rousing style by a separately ticketed Beating Retreat and Ceremonial Sunset led by the Band of HM Royal Marines on the historic riverfront that has witnessed so many great and emotional occasions over the years.

Tickets are available at £12 for tiered grandstand seating and £8 for 'stalls' (non-tiered) but are limited, so book early. To purchase tickets use the Armed Forces Day Ticket Request Form, call in person to The Historic Dockyard ticket office or telephone 01634 823826.

In the air there will be fly-through appearances by the world renowned Red Arrows and the veterans of the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight. Further fast-jet and helicopter assets are expected to be confirmed as the big day approaches.

The Historic Dockyard's own galleries and attractions include HMS Cavalier, the Second World War Destroyer; HMS Gannet, a Victorian Naval Sloop and HM Submarine Ocelot, the cold war spy submarine.

An imposing and emotive bronze monument stands alongside HMS Cavalier. This, together with the ship, forms the National Destroyer Memorial – the official designated memorial to the 142 Royal Navy destroyers sunk during the Second World War and over 11,000 men who lost their lives as a result. You can discover why rope was so important to the Royal Navy in the Age of Sail in the Victorian Ropery and in '3 Slip – The BIG Store' you can feast your eyes on the awe inspiring wooden roof structure of this immense covered slip and find really BIG 'things' from the collections of The Historic Dockyard and

On Anchor Wharf three aircraft – a Typhoon, Tornado and Chinook – will be on display for visitors to get that extra special close-up photo and, subject to operational commitments, it is planned for Royal Naval ships to be opened to visitors at nearby Thunderbolt Pier and at No.2 Basin, Chatham Maritime.

Royal Engineers Museum Gillingham. The building itself is one of Britain's architectural gems. When built in 1838 it was Europe's largest wide span timber structure. You can take the lift or stairs to the mezzanine floor to discover the real grandeur of its incredible roof. The sights, sounds and smells of the dockyard of 1758 are recreated in the Wooden Walls gallery; maritime history is discovered in the inspiring Museum of the Royal Dockyard and heroic rescues of RNLI crews are re-lived in the Lifeboat! gallery.
